

ABSTRACT

A milk composition that includes a heterologous non-milk allergen is administered to a subject to suppress allergen-specific IgE production in the subject